Communicative language teaching, or the communicative approach, is an approach to language teaching that emphasizes interaction as both the means and the ultimate goal of study. Language learners in environments utilizing CLT techniques, learn and practice the target language through the interaction with one another and the instructor, the study of "authentic texts", and through the use of the language both in class and outside of class. Learners converse about personal experiences with partners

Summary: Principles of Communicative Language Teaching and ...

Communicative competence is the desired goal (i.e., the ability to use the linguistic system effectively and appropriately). Teachers help learners in any way that motivates them to work with the language. Students are expected to interact with other people, either in the flesh, through pair and group work, or in their writings.

Teaching in Action in TESOL -

Communicative Language ...

The communicative approach in language teaching starts from a theory of language as communication. The goal of language teaching is to develop what Hymes (1972) referred to as "communicative competence." Hymes coined this term in order to contrast a communicative view of language and Chomsky's theory of competence.

Principles to Work

When communicative language teaching (CLT) was first developed in the 1970s, it was widely seen as the definitive response to the shortcomings of previous approaches and the communication needs of a globalized world. As such, it was exported enthusiastically over the world as a ready-to-use package of ideas and techniques.
