This book will be of interest to a broad readership, regardless of whether they have a background in sociolinguistics, functional linguistics or genre theories. It presents an accessible “meta-language” (i.e. a language for talking about language) that is workable and usable for teachers and researchers from both language and content backgrounds, thus facilitating collaboration across content and language subject panels. Chapters 1 to 3 lay the theoretical foundation of this common meta-language by critically reviewing, systematically presenting and integrating key theoretical resources for teachers and researchers in this field. In turn, Chapters 4 to 7 focus on issues in pedagogy and assessment, and on school-based approaches to LAC and CLIL, drawing on both research studies and the experiences of front-line teachers and school administrators. Chapter 8 provides a critical and reflexive angle on the field by asking difficult questions regarding how LAC and CLIL are often situated in contexts characterized by inequality of access to the linguistic and cultural capitals, where the local languages of the students are usually neglected or viewed unfavourably in relation to the L2 in mainstream society, and where teachers are usually positioned as recipients of knowledge rather than makers of knowledge. In closing, Chapter 9 reviews the state of the art in the field and proposes directions for future inquiry.

In an era of climate change, the need to manage our water resources effectively for future generations has become an increasingly significant challenge. Indigenous management practices have been successfully used to manage inland water systems around the world for thousands of years, and Indigenous people have been calling for a greater role in the management of water resources. As First Peoples and as holders of important knowledge of sustainable water management practices, they regard themselves as custodians and rights holders, deserving of a meaningful role in decision-making. This book argues that a key (albeit not the only) means of ensuring appropriate participation in decision-making about water management is for such participation to be legislatively mandated. To this end, the book draws on case studies in Australia and New Zealand in order to elaborate the legislative tools necessary to ensure Indigenous participation, consultation and representation in the water management landscape.

The authors discuss their experience of the validation process, demonstrating how high-stakes innovation should be fully validated by a series of research studies in order to satisfy key stakeholders.

Willem Middelkoop propõe neste livro um grande reajustamento para dar um novo rumo ao sistema financeiro global, que vê atualmente no dólar o seu modelo de referência. Depois de nos dar conta do caminho percorrido até chegar à situação de crise em que nos encontramos hoje, partindo de tempos imemoriais que recuam até à origem do dinheiro e dos bancos, chegamos ao século XX para assistirmos à forma como o dólar se tornou a principal moeda de reserva mundial. Porém, o sistema governado pelo dólar entrou em declínio há várias décadas e teve um enorme revés com a crise do crédito de 2008. Ainda assim, os Estados Unidos tentam manter a sua supremacia e combatem a todo o custo a corrida ao ouro por parte das outras potências mundiais, nomeadamente, a China e a Rússia. Nos últimos anos, estes dois países têm comprado grandes quantidades de ouro de forma a enfraquecerem o sistema norte-americano e a alcançarem uma maior liberdade

Middelkoop defende em "O Grande Reajustamento" que uma de duas medidas deverá ser tomada: "um reajustamento planejado com muita antecedência" ou "um reajustamento que se implemente no seguimento de uma crise monetária"; em qualquer dos casos, os Estados Unidos perderiam a predominância que detêm atualmente e as novas potências viriam a desempenhar um papel cada vez mais importante num sistema financeiro global que contará uma vez mais com a predominância do ouro.
