Constitution, the judges ought to be governed by the latter rather than the former. ” It is the constitution that is supreme: “ whenever a particular statute contravenes the Constitution, it will be the duty of the judicial tribunals to adhere to the latter and disregard the former. ” e.

Constitutionalism & Judicial Review (Outline)

The second criticism is that the Inter-American Court ’ s assertion of conventionality control fails to consider adequately the existence of different constitutional arrangements (e.g., diffuse, concentrated, and mixed models of judicial review), by aiming to give all domestic judges the power to disregard legislation in conflict with both the ACHR and the Inter-American Court ’ s interpretations of the convention (whether or not those domestic judges otherwise have such power under their ...
