Nakamichi LX-3 This is posted in a thread in the cassette section, but I thought it might be of interest to "store" in the restore section as well, since I took a whole lot of photos during fixing this deck into shape. When starting out on this deck, I first noted the sign on the back stating "110V AC" and a strange, old, looking plug.

I'm looking at older Nakamichi stuff such as the LX-3 and the LX-5. Does anyone know Nakamichi units well? Any particular ones to avoid? I figure an '80s Nakamichi would sound and perform just as well as my '90s NAD, if not better, but I'm not sure and I need some advice.
