Shotokan is a form of self defense that is built like a strong house - first a formidable foundation is molded within a student, and then one brick is layered on at a time. Rather than including endless variations and techniques, the style focuses on a handful of powerful blocks, strikes, and kicks - and then perfecting the body alignment and concentration required to place them within an actual fight.

Shotokan Karate: The Ultimate Grading Guide by Phil Pierce

Shotokan Karate is comprised of 26 katas, each with their own emphasis on fast and slow or controlled and powerful movements. Virtually all of the katas taught today in the Shotokan system have two kiai points. The kiai or "spirit cry" as it is sometimes referred to, occurs only at certain pre-determined moments in each kata. It is precisely at these pre-determined moments that the karate-ka is required to demonstrate a total commitment of body, mind, and spirit, and to channel all of their ...

Shotokan Karate Kata

In the Shotokan kata, the style-typical techniques are repeated from the first to the last kata, again and again. This is the right way to do it since, as we all know, one cannot practice enough if one wishes to master a technique completely.
