I grew up in the 60s and 70s and spanking was the way to discipline in our house. My stepmom was a firm believer that spanking was the only way to discipline a naughty child or teenager. My sisters and I were spanked at least five to six times a month. Her tools of spanking were her hand or a leather strap, both of which she could use very well!

She liked watching him bare his bottom and watching his embarrassed reactions to this. The best part about it for her was that even though he was a teenager, when she started spanking him he turned into a little kid again, kicking, screaming and bawling his eyes out.

My cries were muffled because of my closed mouth, but unfortunately I bit my lower lip and I remember it hurt my throat. Once again there was a long wait before delivery of the next stroke. The fourth shot seemed to be more of an upper cut and caught me fair and square where my buttocks meet the top of my thighs.

She would spank my bare butt with her hand about 25-30 times. The spankings were painful and when I was very young the pain was the only concern I had. I put her over my knee, raised my hand and started to smack her bare bottom. Of course, she screamed and cried as the punishment was administered. Disclaimer: As I child growing up in the 1970's, I wasn't a stranger to over the knee bare-bottom spankings. It's seems to me that in that era most mothers used it as a way to keep naughty children in line. This however, is a work of fiction about a stepmother and much older stepsister who find OTK spankings the best way to deal with a brat.
