The Faith of a Scientist by Henry Eyring - Goodreads
The scientific methods were initiated by Christians of the past, and many Nobel Prize winners in Science have been Christians. A recent study of professional scientists I think put the number of Christians in the field today at around 40%. The issue is not science vs Christianity, there is no battle between them.

Faith of the Scientist - RESPOND

A belief in a Supreme Being, faith in the efficacy of a moral code, and a belief in a purpose in existence are not precluded by science, though science may question the credibility of a particular religious belief and thus serve as a constraint on religion. But men tend to hold beliefs associated with their religious faith inflexibly, a consequence of their all-too-frequent failure to acknowledge the limited ability of man to receive through revelation a perfect comprehension of truth.

A scientist's crisis of faith | Prospect Magazine

Einstein speaks of the "profound faith" of the scientist in the rational intelligibility of the universe. He could not imagine a scientist without it. For instance, scientists believe (= have faith) that electrons exist and that Einstein's theory of relativity holds because both are supported by evidence based on observation and experimentation.
