The Reverse of the Medal is the eleventh historical novel in the Aubrey-Maturin series by Patrick O'Brian, first published in 1986. The story is set during the Napoleonic Wars and the War of 1812 . Returning from the far side of the world, Aubrey meets his unknown son, and proceeds home to England, where he is embroiled in the most difficult challenge of his career, and all on dry land.

The Reverse of the Medal features the first proper return of Patrick OBrians historical novels to English shores in what seems like a long time. The internal chronology is difficult to establish, since it seems to have been 1812 for a very long time in this world; but it has been several books since Jack and Stephen were back in London, at any rate.

While _The Reverse of the Medal_ concludes with a rabbit-punch to the kidney, there is a glimmer of hope that things will be made right, and our hero will once again return to sea. This lifeline (as one would expect) is in the form of Dr. Maturin, whose secret life as an intelligence operative provides some context and (I hope) some opportunity for redemption.

"When virtue spooms before a prosperous gale My heaving wishes help to fill the sail" - John Dryden, The Hind And The Panther There is a fairly exciting cat and mouse chase in this book, but for the most part 'The Reverse of the Medal' involves another Captain Jack Aubrey financial mistake. In what I'll only describe as a mix between a classic economic espionage novel ala John le Carr é and David Mamet's The Spanish Prisoner, Jack Aubrey loses about everything.

Teleny, or, The Reverse of the Medal, is a pornographic novel, first published in London in 1893. The authorship of the work is unknown. There is a general consensus that it was an ensemble effort, but it has often been attributed to Oscar Wilde. Set in fin-de-si è cle Paris, its concerns are the magnetic attraction and passionate though ultimately tragic affair between a young Frenchman named Camille Des Grieux and the Hungarian pianist Ren é Teleny. The novel is one of the earliest pieces ...

Yes.' " 'So early in the morning, and on an empty stomach.' " 'Well, then I'll have nothing at all,' I answered pettishly. 'I see you are afraid I'm going to turn drunkard.' "My mother said nothing, she only looked at me wistfully for a few minutes, an expression of deep sorrow was seen in her face, then—without adding another word—she rang the bell and ordered the wine to be brought."
